

I want to take a moment to congratulate Mrs. Hearnen's language arts class for their large donation to the Salvation Army Food pantry. Her students had a mission to read as many books as they could in order to help out those in need. Her language arts class might be small in numbers (15), but they are mighty in their will power and dedication. The students read 115 books (actual count was 117) and County Fair in turn donated 115 food items to our local pantry. This school - community building activity comes at such a time of need over the holiday season, and I think it is just awesome that our students dedicated many hours to reading all they could in the month of November. Thank you to Mrs. Hearnen's class and to County Fair.
